

Really magical!

Digital map with extras

You can also find a digital version of this route via www.visitgent.be/light, with additional information on the historical background of and the light technology used for each stop along the route.

The map not only includes the lighting in the inner city, but also important monuments, streets and squares on the outskirts. The first realisations in the suburbs include Pierkespark in the Brugse Poort district, the church of Afsnee, the Drongenplein square and an illuminated artwork in the De Porre Park in Gentbrugge. Do you feel like taking a longer walk? Then go and take a look at the lit sites on the outskirts.

Put on your walking shoes

Do you want to experience the impact of the lighting plan on the city of Ghent yourself? Put on your walking shoes and go for an evening stroll in the historical city. Join a guided light tour with one of the official Ghent guide associations (visitgent.be/guide). Or simply let this map guide you to the most beautiful spots in the city.

The basic walk from Kouter to Opera takes about 2 hours. You can discover the other spots at your own pace. Make sure to leave on time, as the atmospheric lighting and the illumination of the monuments are turned off at midnight sharp.
